Richard Matheson Narrated by: I picked a random street, as usual. When Mike Noonan's wife dies unexpectedly, the bestselling author suffers from writer's block. Some men enter for the lure of fortune, some for the fame, and some simply for the thrill. I spun the view around a few more times, and then saw something peculiar. I didn't see her in Paris or Tokyo. Which is sad, because in some ways I would have liked to thank the man for his masculine energy?

The story mainly focuses on a particular pilgrimage there have been many they say. The parking lot was full of cars, and there were a few blurred out children on the playground. For over 20 years, Belasco House has stood empty.
